

SAVE THE DATE!

APRIL 2-5 2020

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR JUNGIAN STUDIES (IAJS)

JUNGIAN PSYCHOLOGY &
THE HUMAN SCIENCES:
AN INTERDISCIPLINARY CONFERENCE

The triennial IAJS International Conference will be held in spring of 2020 at the renowned Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, PA, USA

Through our various disciplines, we shall explore Jung's understanding of psychology as an indigenously human science, based on interpretative and descriptive methods, extending outwards into the humanities, on one hand, and the natural sciences on the other. We shall explore these methodological issues and the theorizing that emerges accordingly. We shall also explore the shared assumptions that human beings are existentially embedded, self-conscious, and ambiguously continuous and discontinuous with animal life. www.jungstudies.net

The Call for Papers
(CFP)

will be released in 2019

Internationally recognized for over three decades as a center for existential phenomenology, the Psychology Department at Duquesne University engages in the systematic and rigorous articulation of psychology as a human science.

Duquesne is centrally located between Pittsburgh's economic hubs and downtown; places of interest easy to reach on foot or public transport.

Check out www.visitpittsburgh.com for events and activities and learn why Harper's Bazaar named Pittsburgh among the best places to travel and Zagat named it as the best food city in 2015.

Roger Brooke Ph.D

IAJS 2020 Conference Chair
